no God, then he sees fellow citizens, in the chair of principles, it effects a change held enough, I have not even the power of convincing the world that I have the desire of doing good. Yourself, sir, even in the supposition that I consented, have no success to hope. Crimes and conspiracies are abroad; the constitution must fall, and with it, the first public functionary whom it created. You have great and liberal ideas; but your mixed government can only last a day. The innovators propose to themselves no particular end; they aim at novelty, and will never attach themselves to any thing, but will always destroy. They would overthrow to-morrow, the constitution, they had established to-day, and the public functionaries they had themselves made; they send to their own destruction. We, must, sir, rally sincerely round the constitution, which perhaps, is not free from imperfections, but may serve in stormy times, as a salutary plank. Let us then unite our sincere efforts to save this constitution.

MAN.
APER.

I am no longer king! The public voice will make known to you the most cruel catastrophe. I am the most unfortunate of husbands and of fathers! I am the victim of my own goodness of fear and of hope; it is an impendable mystery of iniquity! They have bereaved me of every thing: they have massacred my faithful subjects; I have been deceived by stratagem far from my palace; and they now accuse me? I am a captive; they drag me to prison; and the queen, my children, and Madame Elizabeth, share my sad fate.

"I can no longer doubt that I am an object of odium in the eyes of the French, led astray by prejudice—This is the stroke which is most insupportable. My brother, but a little while and I shall exist no longer. Remember to avenge my memory, by publishing how much I loved this ungrateful people. Recall one day to their remembrance the wrongs they have done me, and tell them I forgave them. Adieu, my brother, for the last time."

BOSTON, October 7.

Paris. 13, 1792.

Arrived, the regular trading ship Minerva, captain Clement, 36 days from London. September 7, at 6 A. M. lat. 48, 5, long. 22, 12, after a chase of 17 hours, it falling calm, was brought to and boarded by a French privateer ship of 18 guns, whose lieutenant after examining our papers, using insulting language, and threatening to send the passengers on board his ship, called his boat's crew on board, ordered them to take our fresh stock, which they did, and plundered us of one hog, three geese, and five dozen of ducks and fowls. When told we had on board several ladies unwell, and requested they would not deprive them of the fowls, with the politeness of French privateersmen replied, "Let them eat salt beef!" September 24, lat. 41, 32, long. 58, 20, spoke the schooner Joseph, of Marblehead, 9 days out, bound for the Banks of Newfoundland.

October 8.
EUROPEAN AFFAIRS.

The Minerva, capt. Clements, from London, has furnished papers three days later than before received; but no articles of very interesting news. The threatened invasion of Great-Britain appeared to occupy all the attention of the English politicians.

At our last dates the atmosphere of the north of Europe was far from clear; but whether the appearances were merely evanescent, or the storm of war was brewing, was uncertain. We still retain the opinion, that the northern powers will not join Great-Britain against France. They are too jealous of the maritime superiority of England, to wish to strengthen her. The rumor of an offered alliance of Russia had subsided; and the so much talked of Russian squadron was quietly pursuing its voyage of discipline. It is said, in a Paris paper of some authority, and of a recent date, that France had empowered Russia and Prussia to act as mediators between her and England, and that they had accepted the appointment. How far the refusal of Great Britain (and she must refuse them if they are not of a nature to prescribe limits to the inordinate ambition of France) to accept their mediatorial propositions, will influence their future measures, time must determine. Russia is said to have offered a project for the guarantee of Malta.

The armed myriads of France appeared in constant motion in various parts of the republic. It is very evident she meant to strike home strokes some where. Besides England and Ireland, Egypt, Gibraltar, and Malta, have been named as the suppositious objects of attack. A considerable force was in the vicinity of Jersey and Guernsey, which it was thought would probably receive the first onset of the Gallic legions. The first consul, in one of his replies to his addressers, having declared they "should form a buttress of a bridge to England." We do not think, while Lord Nelson remains in the Mediterranean with the strong fleet he now commands, that an expedition will proceed for Egypt from any of the southern parts of France. The French have experienced his vigilance and activity. And Gibraltar and Malta are strong fortresses calculated to bid defiance to any thing which can be brought against them. We, therefore, are of opinion, Bonaparte will confine his measures to an attack on the British isles. He has given the challenge and it has been accepted.

Great-Britain presents one vast field of bayonets and lances; whilst her coast is surrounded with mounted cannon and floating castles. To the numerous and varied preparations for defence and offence, fifteen hundred gun boats and batteaux had been added, which, under the direction of Lord Keith and Sir Sidney Smith, were stationed on the English coast, opposite France and Holland; in which an army of sea fencibles was daily exercised; and which were destined to meet the French flotillas on their passage, and to try the tug of war on the favorite element of Britain. The men in arms in the British isles were estimated at nearly one million: This may be exaggerated; but it is fact, on the 26th of August, the military corps which had volunteered their services were so numerous, that the king, by proclamation, had suspended the act for training and exercising the population of the kingdom; and the offers of several corps had been refused; those corps having already exceeded the amount of six times the militia. Those volunteer corps were independent of the regulars, militia and army of reserve.

We mention it, as an instance of zeal, that some of the inland parishes had resolved, if muskets could not be furnished them in season, to take the field against the French armed with long pitch forks. If reliance may be placed on addresses, solemn resolutions, voluntary offers of service; and real sacrifice of property at the altar of patriotism, England and Scotland may be said to be united to a man in the resolution, vigorously to oppose and chastise their threatening invaders; if not to spread, in their turn the terrors of invasion in France. If this resolution Christians and Jews, Tories and Whigs, loyalists and oppositionists, high and low, rich and poor, seemed cordially combined; and the only contest appeared to be, who should be foremost in exhibitions of unequivocal evidence of the sincerity of their professions. The language of the people too appeared to have acquired a new tone; and all the addresses, resolutions, harangues, and songs, were in a language unusually elevated and energetic. The noblest feelings of a great and mighty people; had been roused with a warmth and zeal equal to the subject that inspired them—Public Safety and National Glory!—The "nation of shopkeepers" had become a nation of soldiers.

We do not place much reliance on the report of the new revolution in France. We have not found any circumstances which corroborate it. All the French papers we have seen, contain nothing but evidence of the most ardent affection of the French people for Bonaparte, and attachment to his government. We know it may be objected, that the French papers, being under the control of his ministers, very little dependence is to be placed thereon, as evidence of the extent of opposition—Granted—but of positive approbation there are many marks, and travellers in France assure us, that every thing appeared tranquil in the interior. We know, however, that Moreau has long been looked up to, as the Gen. Monk of France: It is also pretty evident Louis 18th has received assurances of the existence of a strong party in France: And it is said to be certain, that the French Princes in England had positively been making preparations for erecting the Royal Standard in France; around which they had been affixed 50,000 royalists, with Pichegru and Dumas at their head, stood ready to rally.

Ireland at the last dates appeared verging to another violent agitation. The snake of rebellion, though scorched, was not dead. A heavy cloud appeared ready to burst. The vigilance of government was great, and its strength mighty. We may daily expect very interesting accounts from that quarter.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.

The ship Woodrop Sims, Capt. Hodgson, arrived at this port yesterday from Liverpool, in 37 days. We have been favored with a file Liverpool papers to the third of Sept. which contain little of importance not heretofore received. The brig Dean, Capt. Dean, cleared for this port the 21st Aug.

CHARLESTON, October 4.

The brig Fame, capt. Messron, 29 days from Bordeaux, and 38 from London, arrived this morning. Capt. Messron was chartered to take a freight from Bordeaux to London; and, on returning, although only in ballast, was not suffered to enter; and was peremptorily ordered to quit the port in one hour, without taking a single article on board. So severe was the prohibition, that he was not allowed even to supply himself with the necessary provisions for his voyage. He was, however, fortunate enough to obtain from capt. Baas, of the John and Francis, a few barrels of beef.—The only reason assigned for this treatment, was his coming from a British port.

October 3.

Captain Martin, of the schooner Roby, arrived this morning from Baltimore, informs us, that on the 30th ult. 10 leagues S. E. from Cape Henry, he saw a sloop upset and sink, at about half a mile's distance from him; as soon as capt. Martin noticed her distressed situation, he put about and stood for her, in hopes to have given relief, but in less than five minutes the sloop went down, and every soul on board perished. She appeared to be deeply laden, and about 70 or 80 tons burthen.

HEALTH-OFFICE.

OCTOBER 17.

The Committee of Health report one death, of a Consumption, for the 48 hours ending this morning at 10 o'clock.

They acknowledge with gratitude the receipt of fifty dollars from a young lady in the country, by the hands of Mr. William Hodgson, Fifteen Dollars from Stephen Cook, Esq. Ten Dollars from Mordecai Miller, five Dollars from Mr. Fielder Gant of Maryland, and one barrel Superfine flour and sundry vegetables from a gentleman in the country.

S. SNOWDEN, Sec'y.

Extract of a letter from St. Jago de Cuba, August 12th, 1803.

"The government of this country has afforded us protection. It has permitted our negroes to be landed and has offered to sell to the French refugees sixteen leagues of land in the country. Each family will receive about 450 acres for 100 dollars. The country is watered by several rivers, and is situated in the bay of Ontanam, 20 leagues distant from hence."

Captain William Leach, lately arrived at Beverly, from Corrun, on his homeward bound passage was boarded by fourteen English privateers, and by them all was treated with politeness. It is conjectured there has been a new edition of Chesterfield's Principles of Politeness lately circulated among the naval officers of England. It is hoped a few copies may arrive in Nova Scotia.

(Salem Register.)

A writer in the Kentucky Gazette, of the 20th ultimo, has brought forward JOHN BRECKENRIDGE, as a candidate for the office of Vice President of the United States, at the next election.

Capt. Hills, of the schooner Rambler, arrived at Boston on Saturday from Amsterdam, informs that on the 20th Aug. Beachy Head bearing E. N. E. distant 4 or 5 leagues, he saw the Monticello, capt. Dickey, of Charleston, S. C. upset in a gale of wind and immediately sunk. She was from Bremen bound to St. Lucar, with linens. Five of the crew were saved and two lost.

Punishment for Theft.—Last Tuesday the supreme judicial court sat in Portland (province of Maine.) A man of colour, who it seems is from the Spanish Main, was convicted of having broken open the shop of Mr. Abner Rogers, in this town, and stolen from thence between 40 and 50 watches of various but valuable prices; for which he is sentenced to sit on the gallows with a rope round his neck, to be whipped 39 stripes; to pay twenty one hundred dollars to said Rogers, and on failure of paying said sum, said Rogers to have the privilege of felling him for the term of ten years; and if said Rogers does not choose to sell said black man, he is to be confined ten years to hard labor.

Quere—Which excites most our indignation; the wretch who committed the crime, or the courts who inflicted such a punishment?
N. Y. Chronicle.

The Circuit court for the District composed of the counties of Frederick, Berkeley, Shenandoah and Jefferson, commenced its Session at the Court House in this town (Winchester) on Thursday last, since which period the following criminals have received their trials, viz.

James Scott, a mulatto charged with the murder of Wm. C. Simmerton of Philadelphia, on the public highway, on Friday the 2d of last month, found guilty; murder in the first degree.
Martha Elliot, for stealing, guilty verdict, twelve months in the Penitentiary house.
Francis Hatter, a negro man, for stealing bacon; guilty; verdict eighteen months in the Penitentiary house.
Thomas Claig, guilty of man slaughter; verdict, two years in the Penitentiary house.
Winchester Gazette.

A German Journalist states, that the Book Fair at Leipzig was rather dull—Divinity went off heavily—Metaphysics fold for waste-paper, but Novels and Plays, lightly tinged with madness, were all the rage.

There is a curious fact handed down by Lord Bacon, which, if it had not the seal of authority, would be looked upon rather as a fabricated jest, than a true story. His Lordship, who was many years a judge, and afterwards Lord Chancellor of England, relates that a thief, brought to the bar and arraigned, for being found on a stolen horse, positively insisted to the Bench, that so far from his having stolen the horse, the horse had stolen him. Fellow, said the Judge, how dare you take the liberty of sporting with the Court on such a solemn occasion; and even while your life is in jeopardy, to attempt to amuse us with such an absurd expression? The horse steal you indeed! It is true, nevertheless, my Lord, said he firmly. I was passing through the fields upon my lawful occasions, when I perceived a fierce mastiff dog, which I feared might be mad, pursuing me. I ran to save myself—he was getting close up with me, just as a high hedge lay in my way. Being very active, I leaped over it, and accidentally lighted upon the back of the horse, which being frightened, ran away with me so furiously, that I could not stop him, until he came to the town where I was taken; and where the owner of the horse now lives. The Jury did not think the evidence too conclusive against his resolute affirmation of the story, (improbable as it appeared) and so acquitted him—perhaps, says his Lordship, not a little thereto moved by the whimsicality of the defence set up.

Chas. Courier.

A good natured artist, who has long observed the perpetual struggle which female fashion has to maintain against her two great enemies, nature and convenience, has contrived an entire new "Dress for Ladies" which, while it satisfies the minutest inspection of a lover's eye, with the light of the charms hitherto "invisible" or but "dimly seen," is calculated to protect the tender female frame against the rudest attacks of wind and weather; it is made of complete glass, the advantages of which must be many and obvious. Ladies by this means will carry about with them at once a mirror, and an emblem, in which, while they dress themselves, they may study themselves.

Cafed in this suit, a lover would as soon think of flying, as offering to be rude as he would intemperately cut his fingers in the attempt. Even an invading conqueror would abate something of his impetuosity, and respect the innocent contents, for the sake of the dangerous envelope which held them.

The projector has laid in a stock of glass, suited to customers of all ranks and degrees, as plate glass, for the nobility, green glass for young maidens, fluted glass for others &c.

DIED.

On Wednesday evening last, in the City of Wathington, Mrs. MARY GRAHAM, five days relief of Mr. David Graham, late of this place.

"They were amiable in their lives, and in their death they were not far divided."

Death came! beside her pillow took his stand, Laid on her fainting form his icy hand; Nor tarried he, but cut the thread of life, To take the husband was to take the wife. Her lovely children, wild with deepest grief, What'er their efforts, yielded no relief; Tho' live, my mother, live! her WILLIAM cried, For who have we now left alas beside! Her younger son, her darling daughter too, Did, all in vain, her cheeks with tears bedew; Nor could the fair ELIZA's circling arm, Nor feeling friends ward off the dire alarm.

Dr. HAMILTON'S ELIXIR,

A sovereign remedy for Colds, Obsolete Coughs, Asthma, Catarrhs, sore Throats, and Approaching Consumption.

To parents who may have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH.

This discovery is of the first magnitude, as it is an immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorder to which children are liable—the Elixir is so perfectly agreeable and the dose so small, that no difficulty arises in taking it.

From LUTHER MARTIN, Esq. Attorney-General of the State of Maryland.

I comply with your request in stating my opinion of Hamilton's Elixir. It has been used in my family for two or three years past, with uniform success, whenever colds, coughs, or similar complaints have rendered medicine necessary. I have myself found it an excellent and agreeable remedy for a very painful and troublesome affection of the throat, accompanied with hoarseness and with obstructed and difficult breathing.

On these accounts I do not hesitate to recommend Hamilton's Elixir, as a valuable medicine, and deserving public attention.

LUTHER MARTIN.

Mr. Abijah Henly, Bridge-Street, Baltimore, was cured by one bottle of Hamilton's Elixir of a very complicated disorder, occasioned by a severe cold caught several months ago. He breathed with the greatest difficulty, and was often thrown into weakening sweats when he attempted to walk any distance, and his voice would frequently fail in such a degree that he could only attempt to whisper, he has been upwards of six weeks without a return of his complaints, and desires to give this public testimony in favour of this invaluable medicine.

Dr. Hamilton's GRAND RESTORATIVE,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine, for the speedy relief and permanent cure of the various complaints which result from dissipated pleasures—juvenile indiscretions—excess in climates unfavourable to the constitution—the immoderate use of tea, frequent intoxication, or any other debilitative intemperance—the unskilful or excessive use of mercury—the diseases peculiar to females, at a certain period of life—bad lymph, &c. &c.

And is proved by long and extensive experience to be absolutely unparalleled in the cure of

Nervous disorders, Violent cramps in the Consumptions, Stomach and back,
Loss of spirits, Indigestion,
Loss of appetite, Melancholy,
Impurity of the blood, Gout in the stomach,
Hysterical affections, Pains in the limbs,
Inward weakness, Relaxations,
Sediment weakness, Involuntary emissions,
Fluoribus, (or whites) Obsolete leucorrhoea,
Barnetts, Impotency, &c. &c.

In cases of extremity, where the long prevalence and obliquity of disease has brought on a general impoverishment of the system, excessive debility of the whole frame, and a wasting of the flesh, which no nourishment or cordial could repair a perseverance in the use of this medicine has performed the most astonishing cures.

HAMILTON'S ESSENCE AND EXTRACT OF MUSTARD,

A safe and effectual remedy for gout, rheumatism, palsy, sprains, bruises, pains in the face and neck, &c. And has performed more cures in the above complaints than all the other medicines ever before made public.

From Dr. Weatherburn,
Wythe county, Virginia.

Gentlemen,
I purchased at your shop the preparations you call Hamilton's Essence, or Extract of Mustard, which I believe has perfectly removed a chronic rheumatism (of that kind named sciatica, or of the hip joint) under which I had laboured for a long time, and which had baffled every article in the Materia Medica, and every mode of treatment received into practice for the cure of this obstinate disease. If you think this letter useful you are at liberty to make it public.
Yours, &c.

P. WEATHERBURN.

John Hoover, rope maker, South Second Street, between Mary and Christian Streets, Philadelphia, voluntarily makes oath as follows, namely, that his wife, Mary Hoover, was so severely afflicted with a violent rheumatism, very dangerously situated, the consequence of a severe cold after lying in, as to be confined to her bed for several weeks, and was at length reduced to the melancholy apprehension of remaining a cripple for life, notwithstanding the most respectable medical advice was followed, and every probable remedy attempted; when seeing several cases of cures performed by Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard, they were procured from Mr. Birch, No. 17, South Second-Street. The first application enabled her to walk across the room, and the use of one bottle restored her to her usual state of health and strength.

HAMILTON'S

WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

Which have within four years past cured upwards of one hundred and twenty thousand persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and form obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever of similar title, so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary, particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution; contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent, and is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady, or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. They are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions; feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the Symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infect the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz. the Tere or large round worm, the Ascarides, or small maw worm, the Cucurbitina, or short, flat, white worm, and lastly, the Tania, or tape worm, so called from its resemblance to tape; this is often many yards long, and is full of joints—it is most hurtful, and most difficult to cure.

Among the symptoms attending worms, are disagreeable breath, especially in the morning—Bad and corrupted gums—Itching in the nose and about the feet—Convulsions and epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech—Starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep—Irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious—Purging, with slimy and foetid stools—Vomiting—Large and hard belly—Pains and sickness at the stomach—Pains in the head and thighs, with lowness of spirits—Slow fever, with small and irregular pulse—A dry cough—Excessive thirst—Sometimes a pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent the vomiting and purging of children, a dreadful disorder which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our cities. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness, having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

CASES OF CURES—by Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges.

(Selected from thousands) the authenticity of which any person may ascertain, either by letter or personal application.

TAPE WORM.

Mr. SAMUEL FULLER, Inn-keeper, on the Harford road, ten miles from Baltimore, began about 20 months ago to be grievously afflicted with a tape worm, which increased fast in size and strength, so as to excite the most horrid sensations by its writhing motions and intolerable pains, resembling the gnawing and tearing of his bowels, which deprived him of his necessary sleep, and caused such dreadful apprehensions as cannot be conceived but by one in a similar situation—his appetite waited rapidly, and with that his strength, so that he was unable to attend to any business—when he heard of some excellent cures performed by Hamilton's worm lozenges, he took a large dose, which brought away about FOUR YARDS of the worm (now in the possession of Lee & Co.)—but a renewal of his pains soon convinced him that this monstrous reptile had recovered its first vigour—Application was made to Lee & Co. for more of their medicine, with their advice—from which resulted the total expulsion of his formidable enemy, in several pieces, which he supposed to be SIX or EIGHT YARDS more. A few months have since elapsed, and Mr. Fuller is now in perfect health. The above facts are well known to a numerous circle of his neighbours, and himself will gratify any who may wish to make further inquiries on the subject. Although Hamilton's worm lozenges produce such powerful effects, when necessary, yet they are perfectly innocent and mild in their operation on the human body, even taken in large doses, as Mr. Fuller will testify—their particular mildness is abundantly evident in innumerable cures of infants.

Communicated by Dr. John Spangler, York-town, Pennsylvania.

Letter from the reverend Mr. JOHN MOLTHER, minister of the Moravian church, in York-town, York, January 4th, 1802.

Dear Sir,
Dr. Hamilton's lozenges have been recommended to me as a very adequate means for the cure of children afflicted with worms, I procured a box for the use of my family, to try, whether by means of this medicine, I might be enabled to gain a point, which, to accomplish, different other means had proved abortive. My eldest boy had a very sickly appearance, was very restless at night, grew leaner from time to time; in short, he seemed to be in a precarious state of health, which would yield to none of the medicines administered, until I gave him two doses of lozenges agreeably to the directions, which carried off a substance to all appearance a mercurius but upon close inspection quite repelled with very small living animals. Not one of that sort of worms which usually afflict children came from him. Since that period he grew remarkably better in health, and though lean, has got a fresh and lively complexion. Upon different occasions I have used this medicine as a purging substitute, and found it to answer exceedingly well, without bringing on belly-ache, or any of those disagreeable sensations, so often occasioned by purging medicines. Upon the whole I judge this medicine to be, besides its main object, one of the most salutary means for restoring lost appetite, and promoting a proper state of digestion, by carrying off that bilious substance, which engenders so much indisposition both among children and adults.

I am, Sir, your most obedient servant,
JOHN MOLTHER.
